Local Curlers Win & Hold Alberta - Atlas Cup From Viking Club

Two Double Games Played In Competition

On Friday last, two local rinks journeyed to Viking to try the issue for the Alberta-Atlas Cup, a trophy donated by the Atlas Lumber Company for competition by any town in which there is an Atlas Yard.

The local teams were made up as follows: Lewis, lead; J. W. Guitrie, second; P. Fish, third and Alex Forbes, skip. Huger, lead, G. Murray, second; W. E. Washburn, third; and J. H. Mills, skip.

The ice was in very good condition and the local teams brought home the cup. The scores in both cases being in favor of the Wainwright teams Forbes winning by 18-6 and Mills by 12-10.

The record scarcely indicates the type of game put up as the local men did not find it any walkway but had to give the best they had to win. Good ice, a good game and an enjoyable time for those who went up.

On Monday night two rinks from Viking came down to Wainwright determined to retrieve their losses of

Longer Holidays Next Fifty Years

The proper use of leisure will be a problem for civilization fifty years hence. So maintains John Brenn, writing in the "Nineteenth Century and After." He looks forward to the day when work and leisure are regarded as matters of equal importance. He says:

The speeding up of all work will make it possible to provide most of our needs in less time. Fifty years hence the work of the field will be done in about four hours daily. Good many firms have already adopted the five day working week. We work harder while we are at it, and have the chance to make something more of life than merely earning a living. The time will come when I look forward to the day when work and leisure are regarded as matters of equal importance, when a man will not be content to be a mechanic, but will aim at being also a competent athlete, artist or student. Self respect and public opinion will demand a full life and will give the same attention to cultural and social pursuits as to industry and economics.

At present we spend enormous skill and energy in creating new tastes, but seldom ask ourselves whether we provide enough leisure to indulge them. The provision of longer holidays is, therefore, an ideal at which employees should aim.

The proper use of leisure is a problem that will become increasingly important. Whether we like it or not, we shall have to occupy as much of our leisure time as we do our working hours. The majority are already making the most of the opportunities which modern life offers. Today the masses show an intellectual interest which a few years ago would have surprised even the most ardent believer in democracy.

The increase of leisure is bringing a new responsibility for the leaders of education. It will become more necessary than ever for people to think for themselves if they are to use their freedom to proper advantage.

Until the level of education is raised, many people will continue to spend their leisure badly; but no matter how it is used it has an economic value. The products of leisure in a motor coach or in a car of his own, whether he reads books or goes to the movies, his activities mean more work for someone else and more employment.

Formerly leisure was reserved to the privileged classes. Its rapid growth among all classes of the population is reflected in the greater attention that is now being paid to art and appearance in commercial matters. Public taste has been improving for some time past, but it is now going forward by leaps and bounds.

Miss Bessie Welch, vice-principal at Big Valley High school and Grace Welch, principal of Thorold school, will arrive home on Saturday to spend the Easter Holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Welch.

Dunsmore Recital Held Here March 21st Delights Audience

Entire Program Composed By Mr. Dunsmore

On Wednesday evening last a very interesting and entertaining programme was held in the I. O. O. F. hall under the personal direction of Mr. R. G. Dunsmore. Twenty-five artists took part in the recital and each and all were splendid in their parts.

The first number on the programme was a piano and violin duet played by Mrs. J. Telford and Mr. A. Adams, "Salut D'Amour" followed by a second selection, "Mighty Like a Rose." Both selections were well rendered and appreciated by listeners.

The second number was a comedy sketch, "Born Thirty Years too Soon" by Messrs. George Glass, Frank Morris and P. Poiras. This comedy caused much merriment and George Glass and Frank Morris put it over in their usual comic manner.

This was followed by two readings by Joyce Bensville, "Two Sides To A Story" and "Who am I?"

The fourth number was two vocal solos by Mrs. F. Sheffield, "The Prospector" and "The Irish Immigrant." These numbers were beautifully sung. Miss L. Bloom being accompanist at piano.

The fifth number on the programme was a dramatic sketch, "The Power That Held" by Mrs. E. E. Tury and Mr. T. Lissimore. This sketch was exceptionally well presented and much credit goes to these two artists.

Following this Mr. J. W. Stuart presented, "Lucky Star" and "How Ah Got Mah Wife." Both selections were greatly enjoyed but "Lucky Star" wasn't so lucky.

An intermission of about fifteen minutes between the first part of the programme and the second part gave the audience a short breathing space.

The first number on the second part was a comedy sketch, "Supper for Four." The artists taking part were Messrs. Hazel & Clara Hedlund, Messrs. G. Ganderton, Earl Lane and Clifford Bradley. "Oily" and "Lena" were a scream and had quite a time getting reconciled after a slight misunderstanding but eventually everything turns out fine.

Again we were favored with a duet by Mr. A. Adams and Mrs. Telford, "Golden Wedding."

Then Miss Jean Dunsmore gave a reading on "The Coming Out of Henrietta." Miss Dunsmore is to be congratulated on the very fine way she presented this long reading.

This was followed by two vocal solos by Mrs. H. Saville "My Old Homestead Shack in the West" and "Keep Your Hands on the Wheel of The Ship."

The next to the final number was "Ducky Skelch" and artists taking part were: Mrs. J. G. MacKenzie, Miss G. Whitman, Mr. F. Morris, Mr. T. Lissimore and Shirley MacKenzie. This scene represented an evening in the home of these darlings and each sang their favorite song before retiring for the night.

The final number on the programme was "The Canadian Army." The "Last Post" was sounded and Color Bearer, Colin Hannah, marched in bearing the flag followed by two escorts and Mr. R. G. Dunsmore sang "The Canadian Army."

The Hope Valley district was well represented at the old time dance at the Orange Hall. Everyone had a real good time.

J. W. Street went to Amisk on business Monday.

Floyd Street was up from Amisk to visit his uncle J. W. Street last week.

The Sport's Club held a concert and dance in the school on Friday night and it was well attended.

We are very sorry to learn of the loss of the Orange Hall by fire.

Much credit is due Mr. R. G. Dunsmore for the production of this play as he not only trained the artists in their parts but also composed all vocal numbers on the programme. We wish also to congratulate the several artists who co-operated so efficiently with Mr. Dunsmore in producing an entertainment which was not only unique in character but one which will long be remembered by those fortunate enough to hear it.

GREENSHIELDS ITEMS

Miss Dona Hill has been ill and absent from school for some time. We wish her a speedy and complete recovery.

Greenhields Elevators will be closed for Easter. March 30 - 31 and April 1st.

Miss Gladys Haynes is expected to return from Saskatoon Friday morning to spend Easter at her home here.

The Greenhields Hall was packed on Friday night by an appreciative audience to witness the comedy play "Her Bulky Husband" put on by the Young People's Club.

The play was very ably produced by an able cast and was just one big laugh after another and the crowd was not allowed to lose interest as almost every line of the three acts produced a laugh. When the curtain dropped for the last time the audience felt as though they had certainly had three money's worth.

It is useless to try to pick out any outstanding character for each one in the cast carried his or her part through to perfection in other words they were all good.

After the play supper was served and then dancing was in order until 3:00 o'clock.

The Easter Day service will be held at the Anglican Church on Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. The service will be conducted by Rev. H. H. Modocks, of Saskatoon.

WAINWRIGHT OLDTIMER REVEALED

On Saturday last, Mr. Matt Greer, one of the old timers of the Wainwright district received the sad news of the death of his brother, William James, of Bracebridge, Ontario. Just as he was known to his friends, had been suffering from diabetes for some time but the end came very suddenly. He leaves to mourn, besides his brother Matthew, here, a grown up family, his wife predeceased him a few years ago. The late Mr. Greer passed away on March 19, 1934 at the age of 69 years.

IMPLEMENT BUSINESS REVIVES

Good Spring Sales At I.B.C. Agency

That business is on the up-grade is evidenced by the interest taken by the farmers in preparing their spring requirements. Considerable spring business in the implement line has already been reported.

J. W. Daugherty, of the International Harvester Company has sold to date this spring, four tractors three plows, two disk harrows, one set spring tooth harrow, one engine and one feed grinder.

The general outlook for business is better than it has been for some years and shows that irrespective of past difficulties the upward trend of prices of farm produce restores confidence in the Farming industry as one of the safest means of providing for that onslaught of the "Big Bad Wolf."

An Exhibition Of Childhood

London is to witness a most unique exhibition when, on April 19, will open a display of relics of "Children throughout the Ages", acclaimed as the most comprehensive portrayal of child life down the centuries ever presented to the public. The event derives significance as much from the historic value of the objects as from the purposes for which the proceeds are to be devoted. The beneficiary will be one of London's most deserving charities.

The relics to be displayed link child life with the dim remote ages of the past, the oldest exhibit being a Chinese doll said to date from 600 B.C. From that far distance down the years, the varying fancies of children, the toys which brought them pleasure, the garments they wore, the furniture which decked their nurseries and playrooms, all will be traceable in the array of exhibits from the pre-Christian era down to the end of the reign of Queen Victoria.

Queen Elizabeth's christening robe, her cap and mittens, a portrait of her as a baby (by Holbein), will be on show. A shirt worn by Charles I. as a child of two, his boyhood's broadsword, will find prominent place in the display beside Oliver Cromwell's christening robe. Here then that historic enemy which ended so tragically for the monarch is made to symbolize the transitory nature of human passions and transformed, serves the charitable purposes of to-day. Napoleon, too, will be represented, not in a manifestation of childish desire but rather in evidence of that other love which great and lowly have in common, and which is, of course, as old as childhood is. The present given by the Emperor Napoleon to his infant son, the King of Rome, has been obtained as an exhibit.

Perambulators and cradles, such adjuncts of childhood that flourished in the seventeenth century, have been collected to augment the display. Children's furniture from the sixteenth to the nineteenth centuries will be shown, as well as a display of British and foreign children's clothes, hats, shoes and gloves of the same period, early games, cards and jig-saw puzzles, playbooks and lesson books. A series of rooms is being arranged to depict child scenes of bygone days with inevitable wall figures in the Madame Tussaud tradition. There will be portrayed in similar fashion a Kate Greenaway scene, a Victorian Sunday, the ancient nanny and the modern nurse.

The British royal family, as usual where charity is the object, is according wholehearted support to the exhibition. Queen Mary is contributing playthings of her own childhood, and toys which enthralled the young Prince of Wales, his brothers and sisters. Two gold rattles given by Queen Victoria to the Prince of Wales also have been offered, and considerable interest will attach to an exhibit of the immature efforts of the Prince and his brother, the Duke of York, as artists. It is said these efforts are just as atrocious in result and effect as any of less exalted youth.

Perhaps one of the most interesting of the relics to be exhibited, however, has no connection whatever with the childhood of the great or the near-great. It is a pewter feeding bottle, believed to date back to about 1750. It was discovered in possession of a farmer who was using it to feed his lambs. Probably no more fitting place could be found for this memento of a bygone period and a long-forgotten childhood than alongside the relics of royal youth and palace playrooms. It is a striking reminder of that strange democracy of the very young, that constant symbol of the "great travellers"—childhood and death—and it is to be hoped that as such, in these transitional days, it will be interpreted by those privileged to patronize the exhibition.

There is a timely moral lesson, too, in the story recently told by one of the better known financial journalists, who, ostensibly passing on, ostensibly poor, elderly woman entered the classic portals of a large up-town bank in New York, and told the unimpressed guard she desired to open an account. She was shown to the new account department where three officers of the bank were more intent upon the approaching lunch hour than upon new business, particularly business which came in such inauspicious garb. As it happened, lunch was, and the woman was left to the manager.

After stating her mission, the old lady asked to see a statement of the bank's financial position, much to the surprise of the manager who was accustomed to having the institution's financial status taken for granted, particularly by small depositors. However, he presented the requested statement, answered courteously some startlingly intelligent and pertinent questions, which satisfactorily received, brought the intimation the lady wished to open an account. She gave her name and other necessary information, and casually, for he expected a small initial sum, he asked: "How much do you wish to deposit?"

"Thirty-one thousand dollars," replied the old lady, equally casually, as she proceeded to count out the money in bills of various denominations.

Harry Lauder's New Mansion

Lauder Hall, Sir Harry Lauder's new mansion at Strathclyde, Scotland, is receiving its finishing touches, and will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks. He had given the planning his close attention, and the building contains many historic as well as unique features.

While excavating for a new building in Kustendil, Bulgaria, workmen recently found an aqueduct in which the top-pipe sections could be removed for cleaning.

Among men the safest auto driving ages are between 20 and 30, and among women, between 20 and 40, according to statistics recently compiled in England.

Weary Days—Sleepless Nights
Wrack the Nervous System

Men and women too night after night on sleepless beds. Their eyes do not close in the refreshing repose that comes to those whose nerves are right. They are irritable and nervous, weak and worn out, and everything looks dark and gloomy.

Milburn's H. & N. Pills is the remedy that is required to restore them the blessing of good health. They bring back the sound refreshing sleep, tone up the nerves, and impart that sense of buoyancy to the spirits that is the result of renewed mental and physical vigor.

Strange Accidents At Sea

Ships' Officers Give Accounts Of Two Unusual Collisions

Recalling strange accidents at sea, officers of the steamer Beschpark, at Saint John, gave the following accounts of two unusual collisions.

Chief Engineer David Thomson, Beschpark, was with the Volumina when that ship carried troops across the English Channel in war days. Traveling without lights, troop-carriers proceeded at full speed even courses ordered clear by the admiralty. A stocky trawler returning from the banks had not heard the warning and unwittingly crossed the troopship's track.

"It was the first time an iron ship was cut in two," said Thomson. "I struck the big trawler broadside, plowed right through the hull and out the other side. From the port I got a fleeting glimpse of the stern half sinking."

Only five of the crew of 39 were rescued, and one died soon after. "The confused survivors wouldn't believe it. They couldn't understand why we had not foundered also."

Capt. Will Masson told how the steamer Montpark, a famous Q-boat during the war, was struck and wrecked while under his command in 1918. A crash occurred while the Montpark was feeling its way through poor visibility one night a few days out from the Tyne mouth. Capt. Masson saw the bow of another ship protruding into his own. "I gave orders in a foreign language, and watched the unknown vessel back away into the mist."

The Montpark sinking, its crew jumped into the sea. Capt. Masson and a few seamen were rescued from a life raft the following evening, but other members of the crew were never found and the ship which left them helpless was never identified.

Progress For Persia

Mechanization Of Old Handicraft Industries Looks Like Mistake

And now the Shah of Persia has evolved a five-year plan. Progress is to make its debut through the mechanization of the ancient handicraft industries that have created so many delights for collectors. Great carpet and rug factories will rear their looms where peasant hands have labored after the traditions and the patterns of the centuries.

Gone will be the features that made oriental rug collecting a delight to those with incomes permitting it. No longer will variations in color tell of the exhaustion of some native dye mixture, or irregularities in pattern betray the advent of a new native weaver. The innovations that began with aniline dyes and chemical washes will reach their climax in a uniformity that matches the best American "orientals."

Indeed, progress in Persia may mean no progress at all. Who will wear a genuine oriental rug if it differs not a whit from the mechanized product of the occident?

What Motorists Pay In Taxes

Automobiles Contribute More Than 27 Per Cent. To Revenue

More than 27 per cent. of the total revenues collected by the governments of the different provinces of Canada are contributed by owners of automobiles in the form of excise or gasoline and license fees. This information is disclosed in a report just issued by the Canadian government bureau of statistics.

The report states that the total amount paid by automobile owners to the provincial treasuries in the fiscal year 1932-33 was $45,490,458, of which gasoline taxes accounted for $24,948,280 and $20,551,173 was in license fees.

In the province of Ontario 35.9 per cent. of the total government revenue is paid by motorists; in Quebec, 32 per cent.; in Nova Scotia, 27.3 per cent.; in New Brunswick, 27.3 per cent.; in Alberta, 24.1 per cent.; in Prince Edward Island, 22.7 per cent.; in Saskatchewan, 19.2 per cent.; in British Columbia, 17 per cent.; and in Manitoba, 15.45 per cent.

High Broadcasting Station

To spread Hungarian culture throughout the world and make it possible for nationals residing in other countries to keep in easy contact with the fatherland, Hungary will erect the highest radio broadcasting station in the world. It will be on an island south of Budapest. A trellis work steel tower will rise 932 feet, and a telephoto shaft on top will make the total height 1,022 feet.

Telephones in Iceland number 4,773, while those in Nigeria total 2,000 and those in Belgian Congo, 1,420.

Restricting Rubber Supply

Britain And Holland May Find Plans Uproot

W. L. Clark, writing in the Border Cities Star says: "With Great Britain and Holland controlling 90 per cent. of the world production of rubber and the United States consuming 50 per cent. of the output, conversations are being held between the British and Dutch with a view to restricting the supply."

In 1928 the British tried the Stevenson restriction plan which curbed exports of rubber as well as actual production. The world price of crude rubber went up from 16 cents to $1.50 per pound. Then the Dutch producers speeded up and ruined the British scheme. The price sagged. It is now between 9 and 10 cents per pound.

Just now the Dutch are dickering with the native producers in the Dutch East Indies. Although the natives do not contribute much to the total supply, it is sufficient to knock the price down under any restriction scheme of the British and Dutch. In the meantime the United States is asking the right to take part in the discussion as the chief rubber consumer.

The way the rubber restriction plan can be upset so simply prompts the thought that Soviet Russia could easily make any wheat agreement between the other nations look pretty sick.

Motor License Revenues

Alberta Government Does Not Favor Extending License Year To April 1st

Revenue from Alberta motor licenses amounted to $800,000 in January and February of this year, Premier Brownie stated in the legislature in showing that this is an important source of provincial receipts at the year's opening.

At the time, the premier was dealing with the government's firm opposition to acceding to the largely signed petition from the Alberta Motor Association asking that the license year be extended from January 1 to April 1.

Formation of a moving picture censor board for the province provides may be considered shortly, according to information given the legislature by Mr. Brownie. Estimates for the censor board in this province were under discussion. The amount passed was $8,900, an increase of $20 over last year.

Prince George And African Chief Shake Hands

Prince George and Chief Tshelodi of the Bamangwato tribes, whose unhappily a year ago aroused international attention, were the central figures in a cordial gathering as the king's youngest son opened his tour of Bechuanaland and Rhodesia. The native chieftain, sent from his territories for flogging a white man and subsequently reinstated by King George, warmly assured the prince of the king's loyalty to the throne, and presented him with a magnificent set of skins.

The prince shook hands and in turn presented the chief with a walking stick. Subsequently Prince George shook hands with Tshelodi's mother, Queen Mamane, whose dramatic appeal to the king for her son's suspension brought about his reinstatement.

New Television Machine

Will Be Ready For Demonstration At Chicago Show

The world's largest television machine, being built at the Horton Steel Works, Fort Erie, N.Y., will be ready for demonstration at the re-opening of the Century of Progress Exhibition at Chicago on May 1. The builder of the machine, U. A. Sanabria, of Chicago, said the machine would have a 30-foot screen and its transmitter would handle more than 5,000 pounds. It would have a definition sufficiently large to handle an entire scene at one time.

British Flight Squadron

Suggestion Is Made That A Visit To Canada Should Be Undertaken

A suggestion was made in the British House of Commons that the United Kingdom send to Canada detachments or flights of airplanes to "show the flag" in the Dominion. The planes would be sent aboard a naval aircraft carrier.

Discussion of the proposal arose during the debate on the air estimates when Oliver E. Simmonds, Duxton Conservative and aircraft manufacturer, told the house Canada had never seen a squadron of British planes, although every year squadrons of machines from the United States made exhibition flights to Canadian air pageants.

Mr. Simmonds said he was in Ottawa early this year and heard how expressed that the Royal Air Force would "show the flag" in Canada. He asked that the air ministry consider the matter.

Sir Philip Sassoon, minister for air, described the suggestion as "very interesting."

Passenger Train Pooling

Expected To Effect Big Saving Under Arrangement

The passenger train pooling arrangement for the Montreal-Toronto, Ottawa-Toronto and Montreal-Quebec services, as extended and effective from March 11, will produce a total saving of approximately 1,000,000 train miles per annum, divided about evenly between the C.N.R. and C.P.R. and on the basis of a conservative estimate will represent a saving to each company of approximately $500,000 per annum. This information was given in the House of Commons by Hon. R. J. Manion, minister of railways and canals, based on a telegram from Chairman C. P. Fullerton, of the C.N.R. board of trustees.

Dickens Was Good Reporter

Began Career In Press Gallery Of British Parliament

A new work by Dickens which has been running serially in many newspapers is appropriate for at least two reasons. His genius first broke on the world in instalments. Was there ever a time in the history of literature when a world of readers waited as impatiently as people did for the immediate monthly "parts" that began with "Pickwick"?

The second reason is even more pertinent for newspaper men. Dickens began his career as a reporter. He worked in the press gallery of parliament from his nineteenth to his twenty-third year, until he set to work on "Pickwick." He was one of the best parliamentary reporters of his day, with an extraordinary reputation for accuracy. He told the New York editors in one of his farewell speeches, "To the wholesome training of severe newspaper work, when I was a very young man, I constantly refer my first successes."

London Consumes Less Meat

Dieting and slimming by women and girls, popularity of canned goods with week-end users, and unemployment are given as reasons London consumed 10,000 tons less of meat during 1933 than in 1932.

WHEAT HOLDINGS NOT DIVULGED IN COMMITTEE

Ottawa.—Refusing by a vote of 12 to 10 to permit John J. McFarland to divulge information regarding either the extent of the government's wheat holdings or the amount in terms of cash which the treasury has at stake, the common banking committee practically concluded its investigation into the wheat stabilization operations of the past three years.

The committee took this stand despite a clear-cut statement from Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister of finance, that the government would place no obstacle in the way of a complete exposure of every detail. On the two critical questions placed before the committee for consideration—whether or not Mr. McFarland should declare the extent of his operations in bushels and in money—the vote revealed a liberal leaning in favor, all of them, save T. E. Donnelly, of Willow Grove, Saskatchewan, and Hon. Ian MacKenzie, of Vancouver, from east of the Ottawa river.

But while these facts, whose suppression was considered by the committee to be vital to the success of protective measures taken in behalf of western farmers, remained unanswered, the committee did obtain from Mr. McFarland a clear statement of the character of the operations he has carried out since assuming the general management of the central selling agency of the wheat pools on November 30, 1930.

On the eve of departing for the Rome grain conference, Mr. McFarland said he had hopes a plan would be evolved to place world supply and demand on a parity, elevating prices and removing wrinkles from the brows of wheat farmers.

The grain operator said Canada had done remarkably well in the last three years in exporting wheat.

Despite tariff barriers all over the world, bonuses to farmers and wheat boards, Canada had sold 1,000,000,000 bushels. It was impossible to estimate what this meant to the west, but it was at least a profit of $100,000,000.

Recovery in Britain

Conditions Better Than In Any Other Civilized Country

Newcastle, Eng.—Chancellor Neville Chamberlain claimed in a speech here that the tide of recovery had set in more definitely in the United Kingdom than in any other great civilized country.

The chancellor pointed to figures showing unemployment is still falling and said for the first time in 10 years there has been an increase in the amount of labor employed on land. He said the greater part of returning prosperity was due to growth of home trade and that the situation in industries depending on foreign markets was improving.

Following failure of last year's world economic conference, he said, it had become necessary to try new methods. He suggested two methods, direct negotiations of which full use was being made, and development of intra-imperial trade.

St. Lawrence Project

President Roosevelt Assured That Every Effort Is Being Made To Assist Plan

Washington.—Frank P. Walsh, New York State Power authority chairman, assured President Roosevelt that every effort would be made to go ahead with the power program on the St. Lawrence project and he promised to continue co-operation for eventual development of the St. Lawrence seaway.

In a memorandum to the president, Walsh said: "It should be possible to reach a complete agreement among the several government agencies involved well within the current year."

"An annual saving in the northeast of more than $200,000,000 in lower electric rates, resulting from completion of the St. Lawrence project, is indicated by detailed figures which will shortly be presented to the New York legislature."

Kiwania Convention

Lethbridge.—J. E. Dillon, K.C., governor of the Western Canada district, Kiwania International, announced that the annual district convention will be held August 5-7. The convention will be held here.

Could Render Good Service

Senate Well Fitted To Carry On Inquiries States Buchanan

Ottawa.—The senate could render good service by carrying on inquiries, Senator W. A. Buchanan told the upper house in continuing the debate on the suggestion that more legislation be initiated there. Inquiries should be held into unemployment and immigration. No legislative body in Canada had the experience of the senate and was, therefore, fitted for such work.

Senator Buchanan described the constitution the senate had made to the pockets of the farmers of Western Canada by safeguarding rates on flour and wheat in the Crow's Nest Pass agreement. A frequent criticism of the senate was that it was made up of reactionaries. If this were true the senate would have taken the part of the railways in 1919, but did not and saved the preferential rates for western farmers.

When the Klondike railway project was rejected by the senate, the late Sir Clifford Sifton had said he would not test public opinion on any measure rejected by the senate.

Return To China

Aged Chalmers, Hit By Depression, Return To Canton

Canton, China.—Thousands of aged Chinese arriving at Canton from North America and other foreign ports are being given free transportation to their native villages "so that they may die at their old homes," according to a statement from the Overseas Chinese Relief Bureau.

The latest official figures gave more than 35,000,000 Chinese living abroad, but within the last year thousands of them have returned to Canton because "the world-wide depression robbed them of their jobs or cost them the loss of a lifetime of savings. Most of the returned emigrants have been away from 40 to 50 years and are penniless."

Budget Surplus

Britain Expects Further Increase At End Of Fiscal Year

London.—Another increase in the current surplus was recorded, with the end of the fiscal year only 11 days away, bolstering the expectation of a budget surplus of around $150,000,000.

Latest figures, those for last week, showed revenue exceeded expenditures $34,000,000, bringing the current surplus to $110,000,000, after including the United States War Debt fund and sinking fund payments, which were not provided for in the budget a year ago.

The current surplus of $110,000,000, $34,000,000 a current deficit of $200,000,000 at this date a year ago.

Favors National Bank

Resolution Will Be Considered By B.C. Legislature

Victoria.—The British Columbia legislature will consider a resolution which would, if passed, place it on record as favoring a national banking system for the purpose of making national, provincial and municipal credit available for governmental expenditure.

The public accounts committee adopted a resolution to this effect. The matter was brought up by G. G. McClear, K.C. (Lib., Vancouver-Burrard). Private financing would not be affected.

Has Faith In West

Toronto.—"I never had more faith in western and northern Canada, and I firmly believe that the future of Canada lies there," declared Rev. W. G. Brown, of Saskatoon, former moderator of the Presbyterian church, in an address on Western Canada at the general board of missions.

Favors Titles If Earned

Ottawa.—"I will always be a plebian myself, but I am in favor of titles for Canadians, if they are restricted to those who really earn them," E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, observed in an interview here. Mr. Beatty made it plain, however, he is opposed to hereditary titles here.

May Cut Interest On Loans

Toronto.—The Globe said in a dispatch from its Ottawa correspondent that considerable progress was evident in the government proposal to obtain a 2 per cent discount from G.B. companies for reduction of interest rates on loans to farmers.

Conflagration In Japan

150,000 Persons Reported To Have Been Made Homeless

Tokyo.—At least 1,000 persons were known to have been killed in a fire which devoured three-fourths of the city of Hakodate, largest community in Japan north of Tokyo. Twenty-five thousand buildings were destroyed and 150,000 persons were made homeless, according to figures in a message received by the minister of communications from the Hakodate wireless station on the outskirts of the ruined city.

The fire rode an equinoctial gale which whipped it into a night-long fury. The city was still burning after the sunrise hour, although the gale was reported abating.

Chimneys toppled by violent winds set fire to roofs, causing the general conflagration, reports said. Nearby suburbs also caught fire.

The Japanese army, navy and other government agencies were hurrying to the scene to conduct relief work.

Electric plants were destroyed soon after the fire broke out and the city was thrown into darkness except for the lurid light of the flames.

One dispatch said the city was a "living hell" and declared that "through the darkness the refugees were fleeing from death and were abandoning even the small bundles of possessions they carried from their homes."

STATE CONTROL OF RADIO STILL IN THE FUTURE

Ottawa.—Complete nationalization of radio broadcasting was still in the distant future and taking over by the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission of the 60-odd privately-owned stations remained only a "pious hope," Hector Charlesworth, chairman of the commission, told the radio commission of the House of Commons.

In the meantime, so that those in isolated districts may not be deprived of good radio, new licenses for privately-owned stations have been granted.

"Financial stringency had prevented full development of radio along the lines laid down by the legislation of 1932," Mr. Charlesworth said, but a vast improvement had been made and further development would be made as revenues permitted.

To W. A. Beynon (Conservative, Moose Jaw), who asked if it were true that a Regina station had been ordered to spend $16,000 to put the plant in order, or close up, Mr. Charlesworth said that was not quite the proper picture.

The station had been advised of certain improvements necessary and he expected the owners would be glad to make them.

Mr. Charlesworth corrected a statement he made on his last appearance respecting the readers of Canadian newspapers.

On that occasion, speaking of news broadcasts, Mr. Charlesworth was quoted as saying 80 per cent of the people of Canada never saw a daily paper.

"Apparently that was what I said, but it was certainly not what I intended to say," Mr. Charlesworth declared. "What I meant was that 80 per cent of the people did not see an afternoon paper until after the evening news broadcast."

REFUGEE FROM VIENNA

Widen Liquor Act

For Freer Sale Of Beer And Wine In Ontario

Toronto.—The Ontario government moved to provide for freer sale of beer and wine in the province. In the giving moments of a rainy season, the government surprised the legislature into frenzied applause with presentation of the long-awaited and much discussed bill.

The measure provides: 1. Sale of beer and wine with meals in dining rooms in standard hotels and such other places, which would include restaurants and clubs, as the board may decide.

2. Sale of beer by the glass in refreshment rooms in standard hotels, and in Veterans' and labor union clubs.

3. Full control will be maintained by the liquor control board.

4. The board may dispense with the present permit system.

5. The board may permit advertising in newspapers and by radio.

6. The board may grant permits for the consumption of beer and wine at banquets.

Train Wreck In Russia

Thirty-Three Persons Are Reported Killed And Sixty-Eight Injured

Moscow.—Thirty-three persons were killed and 68 injured in the wreck of two trains near Sverdlovsk. The wreck occurred nine days ago, but word of it did not become public here until recently.

Despatches said a local passenger train, travelling at high speed, ran through a closed semaphoret at Tavatu, and collided with a freight train.

The responsible employees are already on trial.

This is the fourth such catastrophe reported within a month.

Code To Govern Industry

Kitchener, Ont.—A code to govern the furniture industry has been drawn up by more than 200 striking workers here, and will be forwarded to the mass buying probe instituted by Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce at Ottawa. The strike leaders claimed they had as much right as employers or government officials to prescribe for unfair labor.

Bombing In Berlin

Explosion Wrecks Taxi Of Jewish Owner Of Motion Picture Theatre

Berlin.—A tin can filled with high explosives was hurled on the famous Unter Den Linden and wrecked a taxi containing David Oliver, Jewish owner of a motion picture theatre. First reports which raced through Berlin that the bombing was an attempt to assassinate Hermann Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia and close associate of Chancellor Hitler, were denied. Evidence indicated it was a plot against the life of Oliver.

The automobile was wrecked, near the intersection of the avenue with the Wilhelmstrasse, and Oliver's chauffeur was seriously injured.

Members of the family of the theatre owner, a leader of the Jewish community for 35 years a resident of Berlin, refused to discuss the affair. He was "at home," it was said.

It was at his theatre recently that anti-Jewish demonstrations resulted in the banning of the film, "Catherine The Great" featuring Elizabeth Bergner, a Jewess.

Rumors that Goering had been seen to drive past the corner shortly before the explosion lent color to the story that he was the intended victim, but these met a vigorous denial from police.

The premier, they said, was attending the ceremonies opening a ship lock at Niederspaw at the time. Police offered 5,000 marks (about $1,985) reward for information to clear up the mysterious explosion.

Russia May Join League

Report Necessary Action To Be Taken In September

Paris.—It was learned in usually reliable circles that Soviet Russia has about decided to enter the League of Nations and may take the necessary action to do so at the September assembly.

It was said in diplomatic circles that soundings taken by Moscow leaders had convinced them that entry into the league would not only be welcome but that a seat on the league council was assured.

A final decision was said to be expected shortly since the necessary preliminary negotiations were likely to be complicated.

The Soviets must be officially recognized by such league members as Holland, Denmark, Finland and others with whom she has at present no diplomatic relations.

NATIONAL CATTLE MARKETING PLAN IS ADVOCATED

Ottawa.—A national cattle marketing scheme was urged before the Stevens committee of the House of Commons by a veteran rancher of the west, Roderick Macleay of High River, Alta. To save the cattle industry he suggested lowered freight rates on export shipments, encouragement of the United Kingdom market and, if necessary, government-imposed minimum prices for livestock.

It was livestock day before the committee, three members of the Ontario legislature, J. E. Jamieson, Howard Fraleigh and John A. Craig presenting facts and opinions gathered in connection with operations of the Toronto stockyards.

It was charged there was no competitive bidding on the stockyards and that 99 per cent of Ontario farmers would favor Dominion operation of the yards.

Drivers, they said, were afraid to make open charges "for fear their heads will fall off."

Ontario farmers would favor changes in hog-grading regulations, the federal committee was assured, especially so as to permit segregation of the grades in the yard and open bidding. And farmers would favor also restraining packing plants from buying direct from producers and slaying away from the stockyards until they saw what their requirements would be.

George H. Barr of Regina, representing the Saskatchewan livestock producers, was a brief witness. He said exchange fluctuations were the bane of western exporters, suggesting stabilization by agreement of all Empire currencies apart from gold backing and other external factors. If Canada could not secure Empire co-operation, it could fall back on a stabilization fund of its own, reimbursing exporters for the adverse rates.

NOT NECESSARY TO GUARANTEE FURTHER LOANS

Ottawa.—The conditions this year will be such, the government expects, that it will not be necessary for the Dominion to guarantee any loan of a private company as was the case with the Canadian Pacific railway last year. Hon. Wesley Ormiston, minister of labor made this clear in the House of Commons.

Accordingly the part of the clause in the relief act of 1933 which gave the government authority to make such guarantees will be dropped in the relief act of 1934.

The relief act passed each year gives authority to the Dominion to join with the provinces in relieving unemployment and should not be confused with the forthcoming federal act which will be held with the entirely a Dominion undertaking and will be brought into the house as separate legislation.

During the discussion opposition members pressed the minister to substantiate or deny published reports that the federal works scheme would run to $51,000,000. The minister, however, was non-committal as to the amount the government proposed to spend.

The resolution was carried and the bill based on it given first reading. A count of the votes held with the provinces as to the spending of the money under the relief act after it has been passed, the minister explained.

The Dominion government had paid out for direct relief up to March 10 about $13,000,000, Mr. Gordon stated.

With accounts yet to come in he estimated the total payment for the fiscal year covered by the relief act of 1933 would be somewhat below the limit included in that act of $20,000,000.

For Livestock Commission

Proposal Is Made Before The Mass Buying Investigation

Ottawa.—Establishment of a permanent commission of three members to investigate the Canadian livestock production and marketing commission was proposed before the Stevens mass buying and price spreads committee of the house of commons. The commission would be for the purpose of improving and stabilizing the livestock industry.

Setting up of this body was advocated by I. Ingaldson, manager of the Canadian Livestock Co-operative (Western), Limited, and secretary-treasurer of the Manitoba Co-operative Livestock Producers, Limited.

Consolidating the livestock movement within the next two months of a "Canadian livestock conference" was another proposal thrown out by Mr. Ingaldson. This conference would meet every year. It would consist of one representative of the livestock producers' organization, or organizations of each province, and two representatives of each of the following:

The Industrial and Development Council of Canada Meat Packers, the Railway Companies' Joint Council, the Retail Merchants' Association and the Consumers' Association of Canada. The conference would confer with and make recommendations to the suggested permanent commission on matters pertaining to the livestock industry.

The services of one or more experts to act in an advisory capacity to the proposed permanent commission and to the Canadian livestock conference should be procured, the western livestock authority suggested.

Working On Wheat Price

Experts Meet In London To Prepare For Conference

London.—Final details for new wheat recovery proposals, including minimum price scheme, were being worked out in preparation for the international conference at Rome, April 5.

A private meeting of experts of eight nations opened here at Bush house.

Alternative plans are being drawn up. It was learned, for some of the schemes under consideration.

Next Step Is Recovery

EDITORIAL

"PATRIOTISM IS NOT ENOUGH," Edith Cavell.

I referred in last week's issue to those who on returning from the war torn fields of Flanders, found that they had been more or less forgotten while away. Let me cite a case of one who was forgotten after his return. An office worker in civil life, he, with lungs burned out with gas in Flanders, was advised by the doctors to take up one of the S.S.B. farms. Unused to farming, and paying too much for the farm, he could not make it go, then having lost what savings he had, was advised to take up a "Soldiers Grant" a homestead and he, after a lingering illness, "went west," leaving a little widow, a former nurse "over there," and one small son. Before he died he called in a lawyer and paid the usual fee to have a will drawn, giving all he had to his wife, making her sole executrix. She was informed that to get anything from the "grant" she must remain on the farm and must not "change her name." A year after the death of the husband, following the urgent request of some friends the lands department issued patent in the name of the husband knowing him to be deceased. The widow is now informed that it will cost $75.00 to probate the will, and she cannot sell the farm until it is in her name. It is doubtful if anyone would give the seventy-five dollars cash in advance for the quarter. While some of us in Wainwright grumbled about hard times and cold weather of last December, this little woman, and her 14 year old son, kept from freezing to death in the log shack, lined with tar paper, by taking each end of a crosscut saw and making stove wood from the logs brought in by a 79 year old neighbor, when he was ill, they dragged the wood in from the bush as well. A bountiful government gave her a widow's allowance of $12.50 per month. On this she had to provide for herself and son, or appeal for charity, yet she says, "I have learned to make the best of things as they come."

But does the optimism of this lady justify the public in not doing its duty toward one who did her bit for the boys at the front? Surely such cases make one blush for shame, yet these statements are true.

Patriotism is not enough. There is a saying of the Christ, "In as much as ye did it not to one of the least of these"—Truly man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn. To bad, you may say, but what are you and I to do about it? We criticize the Government, and every other corporate body or organization, for their lack of brotherly kindness, but do you and I in our contacts, in our own private circle, set an example to the outside world? The nation is made up of individuals even as you and I, and the thoughts and feelings of the individual, are the thoughts & feelings of the country at large, and each of us is responsible for our part in the whole, no matter how insignificant we may be.

While we are still touching on the militant side of patriotism, what about the attitude we bear to the whole question of war? Why should it be necessary for men who have no part whatever in the quarrel, and have little or nothing to gain from the struggle, even though successful, to give up all, even their lives, or what may be even worse, to become a broken remnant of mankind, a burden to himself and his friends, just in order that those who control the wires may win a war which in the last analysis is for purely monetary ends. If we failed to respond at the call of the Government, to give our sons, yes, and in many cases our daughters too: just in order that the money sharks may add to the pile they already have accumulated? Is such sacrifice, to the God of greed and selfishness what we mean by patriotism? What right has any man, or group of men, whether they be organized together as a business firm or a government, to set a price upon human life and happiness, to demand the sacrifice of that life to gain only monetary ends? If an enemy were threatening our homes, endangering the lives or liberty of our loved ones or neighbors, all true men must respond, but to do so only to add power to money kings in order that they may further oppress those less fortunate, what is to be gained by sacrifice of that nature?

While the munitions of war are a means of private gain there will always be those who will endeavor to induce the nations to engage in war in order that there may be added business for their firms. If the manufacture of arms and munitions of war was made a government affair so that no individual profit would accrue there would be much less inducement for nations to engage in war. As we stated above, you and I are a part of the great public which can control such things, and if we with all the other individuals comprising the public express our opinion in no uncertain terms, the voice of public opinion will sooner or later have its effect, and in this way we will show to the world an example of Patriotism superior to that shown on any field of battle.

We have always taken for granted that Patriotism meant a willingness to die if need be for our country. Let us go one step farther in our patriotic zeal and be ready to live for our country. Instead of sacrificing our lives, why not sacrifice some of our time or self interest to make our country, our town, our district, a better place to live in and a better home for our children.

PLAN $8,000 RINK AT WETASKIWIN

WETASKIWIN, March —Erection of a modern $8,000 skating rink here during the coming summer is a project.

The weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club was devoted to its consideration. The costs of erecting several rinks in the province were submitted, and a definite quotation was given to construct a rink, the duplicate of the one now enjoyed by Camrose citizens for the sum of $3,000.

Many of the members took part in the discussion.

A committee composed of Kiwanis H. R. French and R. M. Snyder was appointed to confer with the council to consider ways and means to "put the project over." Edmonton Journal.

SEE REDUCTION IN SUGAR TAX

OTTAWA, March 22.—While the general financial situation does not suggest the probability of many changes in taxation, it is current rumor in government circles that the tax of two cents a pound on sugar, imposed in last year's budget may be cut in half if not wiped out altogether, when this year's budget is brought down.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a contest and settle for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not a rich girl, but as she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an "exclusive" others in the story are Avia Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. At a party at a "snack" where Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the gaiety, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and settle for the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avia and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to explain before the party that she and Peter are married. Bowman and Weeks, an advertising agency, where Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for her and tell her they have a new account which requires unusual treatment of juvenile art. To Camilla's surprise she learns that the account is that of her foster father's company, which has decided on an extensive campaign to bolster up lagging business. The article was enthusiastic about her work, and Mr. Weeks offers her a salary of $50.00 a week to start and the prospect of having it doubled. She goes to keep a dinner engagement with Peter. The tale-teller of her good fortune in securing employment. Mrs. Hoyt is also informed that Camilla has obtained work and is going to leave the Hoyt household. Avia Werth rents a studio on the same floor as Peter, and invites him to have lunch there. He accepts reluctantly, but is favorably impressed with his visit.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXXV.

In the meantime, Camilla was absorbed with her new work. She lived with, by and for it. She sloshed and planned at the office all day, was on the alert for new ideas and characteristics in her public contacts. She visioned her Tiny Tot in their amusing exploits while she followed Rose's patient instructions regarding her share of the household tasks, went to sleep with them in her thoughts.

Of course, she thought about Peter, too; the thoughts crowded in deliciously with the queuing, peremptory ones that demanded most of her attention, much as Peter's thoughts of Camilla treasured into his working hours.

She saw him occasionally, too, but not as often as formerly. It would not always be like that, they told themselves and each other, with blithe words and wistful faces. Just now, the paramount issue for each of them was to make a temporary success which would develop a greater future.

Camilla believed that if she made good in the first months of the Wheatcroft Cereal campaign, the future would smooth itself out into days less arduous and anxious, when she might devote more of her self and her time to Peter. The first terms of their marriage plans had been that nothing should interfere with their individual ambitions. Those terms were unequivocal and each adhered bravely to them, even though the effort cost them incalculable hours of loneliness and longing.

But, as every plan has its latent advantages, it has its weaknesses also. It never occurred to either of them that the very stimulus of human companionship and relaxation of leisure hours which they were denying themselves in the satisfaction of each other, they were absorbing from others less gratifying.

While Camilla thought that she was contributing more inspiration to Peter's work by leaving him alone; and he believed that because he could not take care of her, he had no right to expect her to share his meager, anxious existence, had they only been as wise as they believed they were, she would have realized that nothing could have contributed so richly to his inspiration as herself, and he would have known that, loving him as she did, every meager, anxious hour of his life that she did not share was a precious jewel lost somewhere along the way to regret.

The first cloud of discord between them appeared on the horizon when she had been working at the office for a month and was gaining confidence in her work. She had arrived at the studio one Sunday afternoon earlier than Peter had expected her, and found him working on a large color advertisement for a transportation company. Her reactions were due not so much to the fact that he was doing the work, but to her surprise that he had said nothing to her about it and seemed reluctant even then to tell her about it.

He had kissed her rather perfunctorily in greeting and seemed to disapprove of her work. Usually, he proceeded with whatever he was doing when she interrupted him.

"Did I disturb you by coming in early?" She was contrite. "I'm sorry. It was such a glorious afternoon and there wasn't another thing to do at the apartment—oh, I am getting to be a very efficient housekeeper—and I just couldn't wait longer to see you," she confessed finally.

"That's more like it," Peter laughed, clapping her to him suddenly and looking at her with her deep eyes, tenderly. "Of course, your coming earlier doesn't disturb my work. It does me, though. You are more lovely every time I see you, but that isn't often enough, precious. I was only going to keep busy so the time would pass more quickly until you came. Gosh, everything!"

"Wonderful, Peter. I'm sure my work is going over big—I just have a hunch it is, because I'm so happy over it, I guess. I am happier every day." Her face glowed with a reflection of her felicity.

As if a child had suddenly cooled his ardor, Peter's eyes grew somber and a mask of gravity dropped down over his face. His words seemed to Camilla to come suddenly from far away. "The less you see of me, the happier you are." He laughed a little, but it was a meaningless attempt to conceal the bitterness of the jealous male who is helpless to defend himself. Such jealousy is always both unreasonable and unreasonable.

Peter drew away and began to gather up his working material from the table with swift movements. Camilla wondered frantically if she only imagined the sudden change in his manner. She made a desperate effort to sound casual when she asked, taking off her hat and jacket, "What's this you are doing now?"

"Oh, nothing new," he evasively.

"Something new, isn't it?" She approached the table and saw that the huge card was a soft-tone photograph of a bus terminal which Peter had been tinting with water colors. Camilla looked up at him inquiringly. He flushed slightly and did not meet her eyes. "Oh, you will say it's

WIFE'S DELIGHT AT HUSBAND'S LOSS

30 Pounds of Fat!

Here is something all wives of fat men will be glad to know. It is the experience of a woman whose husband recently weighed 280 lbs. She writes:

"I really feel I must write and tell you that, after taking Kruschen Bala for 3 months, my husband has lost 30 lbs. This has been achieved by nothing else but Kruschen. I am too heavy also, and I started taking Kruschen only three weeks ago. Already I have got down from 165 lbs. to 144 lbs. We are delighted."

(Mrs. C.)

Kruschen combats the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue.

kindergarten stuff compared with your advertising copy. I wasn't going to show it to you. I'm only doing it for the cash, so I can hold out with my work for the rest of the month."

"Why, of course—why shouldn't you do it, if you can spare the time? It looks fine—for what it is."

"For what it is," he agreed tonelessly.

"Why, Peter, what's the matter with you?"

"Oh, impatiently, it tears me to pieces to have to grub like that for a little money. It isn't that I mind the extra work. I'd rather dig new, for that matter. Only I have to save my dignity—if any—by staying in the art line—in any contention of the imagination anyone could call it."

"Sue knew that his bitter impatience was a culmination of overwork and anxiety. But the effort which she made to soothe his resentment was like touching a match to a fuse."

"Oh, Peter, it's a rotten shame that you have to mutilate your own pride and sacrifice your precious time for the sake of a few paltry dollars, while some people have so much wealth they can't even think up ways to use a fraction of it."

"No use to talk about that. The world's been like that ever since I was started long enough for some to get ahead in the race. Those in the rear are either poor runners or victims of circumstances one way or another. They're carrying too much lead or got a bad break. I guess will catch up in time, some of the cars get behind; but they can't all come in first, or even second or third."

"I know, but even a thoroughbred needs a fair chance. Too much of these, the race is 'fixed'."

"Sometimes I feel that way, too, but I'm going to keep up the pace until I reach the tape and find out."

"Of course you will—and you may be the one to break it." She smiled encouragement and stroked his cheek fondly. He had dropped into a chair and pulled her down beside him as they often sat while they talked.

"But there's so much lack of balance and futile waste of real talent," she continued. "I was just thinking of the time Mother Hoyt was at her wit's end to know what to give dad for his birthday. Not that she particularly desired to give him anything, but it was one of her pet customs to remember anniversaries with impressive and appropriate gifts. He had everything and there was no need. But she finally hit upon the idea of a gold keychain."

"I went with her to the jeweler's when she bought it, and remember that I thought it was silly to pay so much for a thing that looked no better than the average metal keychain, though I was quite young then. It cost a hundred dollars, but that was only the beginning of the idea. She had his keys copied in solid gold to go with it and each of them engraved with his monogram. I believe the whole thing cost the trifling sum of five or six hundred dollars."

"Did he like it?" amused.

"He had to seem appreciative. But I'll bet he never used his keys again without thinking how many boxes of Wheatcroft Cereal profit they represented."

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

"Well, you have to consider that from another viewpoint, too," he conceded. "I'll bet that jeweler and the locksmith who made the keys, and the metallurgist and all the workmen involved on down the line were thankful for her extravagance when, maybe there was even a poor, struggling sculptor somewhere along the line who profited a little by the transaction, indirectly. That's what wealth is for, to keep the ball rolling along so everyone can have a grab at it. That's what most of the trouble is now. Too many people have stopped playing the game and are waiting for the other fellow to begin while they watch from the sidelines."

"I'm glad you gave me the idea that the gold keychain might have done some good, after all. I never thought of it that way."

"Sure—like the fellow down the street here who runs the little flower shop. He was telling me yesterday that he used to count big on orders for the patients in the hospital across the park, but lots of those orders are killed now because someone got the idea that flowers were an extravagant luxury in the depression. They think they are being noble to refuse to accept flowers and have the money added to charity funds. Clubs, societies and individuals are taking it up. And where does that get 'em? More charity for the shiftless and less work for people who want to make an honest living! Funny how minds follow the leader blindly, like sheep. No matter what kind of a silly idea jumps over the fence, a whole flock follows."

"But don't you think that's rather sweet to know that the money which might have bought flowers for you that you don't need, is feeding some poor child?"

"No, I don't. Look here, what good does that do if the kid's father had been driving a truck for a florist and lost his job because everybody quit buying flowers? Not only the driver is involved, either. There's the florist and his employees, the growers and their gardeners, the seedsmen, the flower box manufacturers—it's endless. Suppose I worked in a flower shop or a greenhouse to get my living? While I'm studying, I'm doing almost everything. It's all the same principle."

Camilla mused. "Why, that's right. I never thought of it that way before. No wonder the world gets bigger and bigger so often. It's an awful tangle, isn't it?"

"It's a million tangles all snarled up."

So far, the discussion had been impersonal enough, but it was Camilla's next remark that caused the spark.

Life Restored To Dead Dogs

Experiments Made At The University Of California Institute

Two dogs pronounced dead were "brought back to life" for four and five hours, respectively, in experiments at the University of California Institute of experimental biology.

One of the animals was first pronounced dead, from nitrogen gas administered by the scientists, at 12:34 p. m. Dr. John B. Clark injected a solution containing oxygen, adrenalin and heparin and testified the dog on a board to restore circulation.

At 12:43 the scientists noted the heart began beating. At 1 p. m. reflexes returned. At 1:06 the dog moved its eyes. At 4 p. m. its pulse and respiration approached normal. At 6 p. m. it died.

Another dog lasted only four hours after it had been resuscitated.

Chance To Be Pioneers

Trip To Northern Mining Fields Is Good Thing

Those who bemoan the decline and fall of the good old pioneering spirit might try getting into some of the mineral fields in northern Canada. The schedules of the Canadian National Railways give a varied choice of routes from rail-head on. Sometimes it is by plane, but mostly the adventures have to depend on dog team. That's the way into Gods Lake or the Herb Lake fields off the Hudson Bay Railway in northern Manitoba. In northwestern Ontario, in the Red Lake district, the trip from the railway into the mining area is made on sleigh hauled by caterpillar tractors. The distance is 145 miles. After that trip anybody ought to know just what kind of a pioneer he is—Canadian National Railways Magazine.

Little Help For This Week

"Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feeble-minded, support the weak, be patient toward all men." 1 Thessalonians, 5:14.

The little worries that we meet each day May lie as stumbling blocks along our way. Or we may make them stepping-stones to be Of grace O Lord to Thee.

—A. E. Hamilton

We must be continually sacrificing our own will, as opportunity serves, to the will of others, bearing without notice sights and sounds that annoy us, setting about this or that task when we would far rather be doing something very different; persevering in it often when we are thoroughly tired of it, keeping company for duty's sake when it would be a real joy for us to be by ourselves, besides all the trifling untoward incidents of life, bodily pain and weakness long continued, and perplexing us often when it does not amount to illness, losing what we value, misusing what we desire, disappointment in other persons, wilfulness, ingratitude, folly, in cases where we least expect it.—J. Keble.

VALUES

What is the worth of a little song? No one can truly say. For sometimes its echoes may linger long. And sometimes they die in a day.

What is the worth of a smile, a kiss? Yet all a seer could guess: Though often they bring but a moment's bliss, Yet all of a life they may bless.

Who can value a mood, a word, A passing stranger's glance? Whether the heart be cold or stirred Seems but the work of chance.

Some must go to the world's far ends Seeking life's ardent fire: Others find where their road first bends All of their heart's desire!

Grandson Of Swedish King Gives Up Royal Rights

A romance like a fairy tale of fiction came true with the wedding of Sigvard, Prince of Sweden, Duke of Uppland and grandson of the Swedish king, to the beautiful Fraulien Erika Patzek, 22-year-old daughter of a Berlin industrialist.

The 26-year-old prince—like Lennart, his cousin—abandoned his princely rights for a romantic union with the German actress.
